

GIVING YOUR GIFT

a simple act that can change the world

GIVING YOUR GIFT is a way for any young man or woman to answer the question, "How could whatever I do make a true and meaningful difference?"

Through the simple act of asking someone to donate $100 instead of buying you a holiday gift, your kindness will be combined with others to make one large grant that will significantly improve the lives of impoverished people and their communities.

No matter how young or old, you can help change the world. Here's how GIVING YOUR GIFT works:

1. This holiday season, send this announcement to a friend or relative who'd otherwise get you a gift. Tell them that instead of buying you a gift, you'd like to "Give Your Gift."
2. Your friend or relative completes the form below, includes a check for $100*, and mails both check and form to us no later than Monday, December 27, 2010.
3. Both you and your friend or relative will receive a thank-you note from the Face-to-Face AIDS Project.
4. On December 30, 2010, we'll announce by mail or email how much was raised and what project will receive the grant.
5. In April 2010, we'll announce how your "GIVING YOUR GIFT" has improved the lives of real people.

The beauty of GIVING YOUR GIFT is that by offering up a gift you haven't yet received, you join others in making a meaningful, impactful grant for people whose lives are marked by hardship and suffering. On top of that, we make sure you know how your simple act of kindness has resulted in a big difference to the lives of many.

THIS HOLIDAY SEASON, WON'T YOU PLEASE JOIN US IN SIMPLE ACTS OF KINDNESS THAT CAN CHANGE THE WORLD?

*Minimum donation is $100. There is, however, no limit in the number of gifts you can turn into acts of kindness!

Mike Chikakuda, a Face-to-Face scholarship recipient, saved Gladys Mahala's life when she was near death with HIV, malaria, TB, and malnutrition.

An orphan, Gladys was alone in the world until Mike convinced her to stay alive and begin dreaming of going to school. Orphan education is one of the many Face-to-Face projects that has given confidence and hope to a great many children.
